VOL. 9. NO. 192 CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO., PA., FRIDAY, MARCH 26, 1909 One Cent

SECOND LARGEST CLASS IN HISTORY OF HIGH SCHOOL

There will be twelve members of the graduating class from the Charleroi High school this year, it being the second largest class ever put out by the local school, the first largest being that of 1904. The program for commencement has not yet been arranged, but likely will be completed in the next two weeks. The averages for the three years work have not been taken as yet, and this being necessary to determine the class leaders, who will be the valedictorian and the salutatorian is yet a question.

The following are the members of the class which will graduate: Roy Carson, Mamie Rockwell, Bernice Rice, Harold Smith, Jesse Richey, David Thompson, James Thompson, Jacob Mitchell, Beulah Lee, Susie Beigel, Fred Carson, Helen Howard.

The High school principal is Prof. J. R. Huston, and the teachers are Profs. B. B. Smith and George H. Cheeseman. Good work has been done by the present class, as the size of it will attest.

MONONGAHELA WOMAN CLAIMS $5,000 DAMAGE

Alleging that she has been brought into public scandal, infamy and disgrace by being falsely and maliciously charged with the larceny of a hen, arrested and detained in the Monongahela lockup for the period of three hours, Angeline Fonte has brought suit against Nick Pontier to recover damages in the sum of $5,000.

The plaintiff avers that on March 13, 1909, the defendant, without any reasonable cause whatever, caused her to be arrested and taken before Alderman R. L. Elwood, and held under bail for a preliminary examination on the charge of larceny; that on March 17, 1909, the case was duly tried before the alderman, and a jury returned a verdict of not guilty and acquitted the plaintiff.

The plaintiff claims that she has been greatly injured in her good name, fame and reputation has suffered great anxiety of mind, and pain of body, has been deprived of her liberty for a space of five days, has been obliged to spend $60 in procuring her discharge from imprisonment and for her defence, and has been greatly hindered by reason of the said premises from giving to her three children who were convalescent from a severe attack of measles, the duty, attention and care due from a mother.

Attorney McIlvaine and Williams and F. M. Cancelliere represent the plaintiff.

Day of Freedom Very Disastrous

Robert Leaver a well known character of Monongahela was this morning sentenced to six months in the workhouse by Alderman Day of Monongahela. Yesterday the man was discharged from that institution after serving time of six months. He came to Monongahela and proceeded to get tanked up before going home. When he did get to his domicile, he found his wife absent and proceeded to kick the door down, and then to break up the furniture. Getting tired he lay down and dozed off to sleep, and his wife coming and seeing him, notified the officers, who arrested the man. Information was made before Day, and the sentence this morning was the result.

JUMPED FROM SECOND STORY

McDonald, March 26.—Aroused from their sleep about 3 o'clock this morning by fire in their home the family of Arthur George, on Valley street, were compelled to escape from the house in their night clothes leaping from the second story windows.

Apparently the flames originated near the stairs on the first floor. Members of the family were unaware of the danger until awakened by dense smoke pouring up the stairway in volumes and penetrating the sleeping apartments.

Escape by means of the stairway was cut off as the stairs had evidently been the first to go. To save clothing sufficient to cover them was impossible.

It was necessary that the inmates reach the outside at once owing to the danger of the floor crashing down.

To leap from the second story windows was the only avenue to safety.

Attired in their night clothes the Georges were almost frozen before they could be hurried to the homes of neighbors and cared for.

Nothing was saved. The loss is estimated at about $2,000 with $600 insurance.

WILL DO ALL IN HIS POWER

Word has been received by the committee of council appointed to push the matter of the passage of the alien tax law in the state legislature has received communication from Senator Walton stating that he will do all in his power to have it passed in the Senate. The bill was introduced in the house by Rep. Holland.

FOREIGNER INJURED BY FALL OF SLATE

Charles Kerrepksy a foreigner of Monongahela was injured at the Hazelkirk mines yesterday by a fall of slate. He was taken to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela and his injuries dressed. A right leg was broken, and he was otherwise much injured about the body.

REFUSES TO MAKE STATEMENT

In regard to the solicitorship of the borough D. M. McCloskey who is claimed to be the legally elected man by the members of the council, decline to make any statement in regard to his position. Mr. McCloskey was seen this morning, and asked as to what position he would take, assuming that Mr. Schuyler who also claims to be the legally elected solicitor, would press his contention. He said that he was going ahead and doing the work, and expected to continue such, but declined to make any further statement.

At present there is being an opinion prepared on the question by an outside attorney, for the council, and announcement of the points embodied in this will likely be given later.

COUPLE WERE NOT THE ONES

It has been learned for a certainty that the couple which spent last summer in Charleroi rooming at the home of Mrs. O'Donnell on McKean avenue between Ninth and Tenth street, of which mention was made in yesterday's issue of the Mail, were not the ones now in custody as the kidnaping of Willie Whitla, the Sharon lad. The couple are now in Steubenville, where the man is employed.

Nevertheless, it is still thought that Mrs. Boyle spent last summer in Charleroi, but where is a question. This strangly cannot be learned. There have been few developments in the case lately. The couple are now confined in the Allegheny county jail, and will undergo trial later. It is possible that a detective from Pittsburg will be sent to find where the woman stayed while here, or to ascertain if she really was here during the summer of 1908.

MIRROR AND THE MAIL CONSOLIDATE

The coming week will witness a big change in newspaperdom in Charleroi, and the long established Charleroi Mirror, which is published by E. C. Niver on McKean avenue, will become consolidated with the Mail Publishing company, which issues the Charleroi Mail. There will be no change in the names of the two papers, and the Mirror will be issued in regular form, but from the plant of the Mail.

Next week the plant of the Mirror will be moved to the Mail building, and Mr. Niver becomes editor of both the Mail and Mirror. In this way he will be given more time for the careful preparation of the editorial departments. The business end of the two papers will be in charge of Mr. H. E. Price, who is now the business manager of the Mail. The advertising department will be looked after by Mr. W. C. Ackinson. Thus with the increased force, better attention can be given to the better development of all parts of the paper.

Both the Mail and the Mirror in the past have been handling the best and the latest news and have gained a name for their reliability. We are sure that our friends will be pleased with the new arrangement. With the consolidation we naturally expect much, and will strive hard to attain our highest aims, in which we have no doubt we will be graciously assisted by the good people of this thriving city.

COMMISSIONERS REFUSE TO PAY PRIVATES' COSTS

Another blow was struck at the private detective agency business yesterday, as it is conducted in this county, when upon advice from their solicitor, Isaac W. Baum, the county commissioner issued an order directing no more costs to be paid to any one except regularly qualified constables of the county. This means that no costs will be paid out hereafter to private detectives or deputy constables unless they can show cause why they should be paid these costs. The solicitor after inquiring into the law regarding the paying out of costs has found that there is no law authorizing the county commissioners to pay out costs to private detectives or deputy constables. Regularly qualified constables only are entitled to costs.

This ruling means the cutting off of a considerable income to private detectives or other special officers, who are so appointed that they receive no salary from the county or for whose pay the county is in nowise liable. The above action follows the stand taken by the Citizens league regarding private detectives.

Heretofore the private detectives have appeared as private prosecutors in many cases and have been drawing costs in just the same manner as regularly qualified constables. Twenty per cent of the costs paid out by the commissioners have been drawn by private detectives and special officers.

The stand taken by the commissioners is an important one, and will put more responsibility on the constables to be alert in looking after the criminal business over the county. It is believed that private detectives and deputy constables and other special officers have worked up many insignificant criminal cases for the sole purpose of securing a little costs from the prosecution. It has been a case of imposing upon the foreign population who in many cases are ignorant of the laws.

With one detective license refused, another under fire, and indications that proceedings may be started to revoke licenses that are already held, it appears the day of the private detective business in the county is at an end.

SETTLEMENT MAY BE MADE WITHIN THE NEXT WEEK

It is more than likely that settlement of the suits against the borough of Charleroi brought by the Charleroi Water company and the one of three citizens of this place versus the water company will be settled within the next few days. The thing that is now holding back is specifications of an insurance department, which have been sent for by Councilmen Frye, to learn what the Underwriters require, in order to have the rates lowered. As these specifications are expected any day, settlement should be reached within the next week at the outside.

Council several weeks ago framed an agreement that was later presented to the Water company for their approval. The company having acted favorably the specifications from the insurance department were sent for, so that a better understanding could be reached. When these arrive, papers will be signed at once that will among other things give Charleroi its one greates desire, a filteration plant.

JUSTICE OF PEACE GETS MIXED UP

A justice of the peace-elect, who failed to file his acceptance of office, as required by law, and thereby loses his commission, writes the following letter which was received by the clerk of courts yesterday: "At the February election I was elected justice of the peace and have been waiting ever since to receive application blank, as I was informed you would, but never received anything along that line. ENTERTAINMENT PLEASES CROWD

The entertainment given at the Monessen Opera House last evening by Charleroi people assisted by Monessen talent, for the benefit of the Baptist Sunday school of Mou[illegible] was a grand success. The entertainment was practically the same as produced here some weeks ago, consisting of three vehicles. "The Rainbow Fete," a cantata, "Parson Poor's Donation Party," and "the Train to Mauro." All these took well, and the duets of the children in the first part were received with much applause. There was a number of specialties, among them being a musical number by the Royal Male Quintet, of Charleroi. Monessen people had musical numbers, and recitations. Several persons from Charleroi attended the affair.

Glass, superintendent of the lighting department of the West Penn, who resigned his position to take effect April first, has accepted a position with the Johns-Manville company, manufacturers of Electrical Supplies, at Boston, Mass., and will leave in the near future. He will have charge of the company's interests in the New England District. The firm is the same one with which G. R. Folds, formerly General Manager of the West Penn at Connellsville, accepted a position some time ago. Mr. Glass left Charleroi, where he was formerly stationed about a year ago. He has many friends in the valley who wish him the greatest success in his new position.

Another resignation in West Penn ranks to take effect on April first is that of F. C. Eckles, superintendent of the Uniontown District, who expects to go into the Real Estate business for himself. He went to Connellsville about a year ago from Monongahela, where he was superintendent of the West Penn.

ENTERTAINMENT PLEASES CROWD

The entertainment given at the Monessen Opera House last evening by Charleroi people assisted by Monessen talent, for the benefit of the Baptist Sunday school of Mon[illegible] was a grand success. The entertainment was practically the same as produced here some weeks ago, consisting of three vehicles, "The Rainbow Fete," a cantata, "Parson Poor's Donation Party," and "the Train to Manro." All these took well, and the duets of the children in the first part were received with much applause. There was a number of specialties, among them being a musical number by the Royal Male Quintet, of Charleroi. Monessen people had musical numbers, and recitations. Several persons from Charleroi attended the affair.

TAKE CHICKENS FROM MEAT MAN

"Bill" Duvall and Robert Rose, the latter from Monongahela were this morning taken to jail to await trial on the charge of the larceny of a turkey and chickens from the slaughter house of J. C. Lowstutter. The hearing was before Justice Rice and the evidence was strong against the men. The theft occurred on Sunday night.

GOOD EVENING.

Love is sunshine hate is shadow,
Life is checquered shade and sunshine.
—Hiawatha.

Spare the Rod.

In many cases the teachers in the public schools are apt to administer corporal punishment to the pupils for the slightest offenses, and from evidences this was true in the Monessen case where a high school instructor broke a pupils nose. Such drastic action is absolutely unwarranted in most cases. Charleroi seems to of rather an exceptional nature respecting the punishment of the pupils by the rod, and the few cases where this is necessary is rather astonishing. The old use of the rod is not to be commended, unless it is absolutely impossible to avoid. The American people are becoming accustomed more to the methods employed in the schools, and as a rule the use of the rod is becoming extinct gradually. Following upon this line of thought it is little wonder that the man who committed the action upon the Monessen boy should be made to feel the disapproval of society.

The White Plague.

The attitude of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania toward what has been called the great white plague is eminently gratifying. During recent years medical experts have come to realize that consumption, like the plague, like cholera, like yellow fever, like small-pox, may be kept within very narrow bounds if the proper steps be taker to protect the health of the pepole. The old theory that consumption is inherited has been exploded. The new theory is that it is a contagious disease and that it should be proceeded against, just as the world has attacked small-pox. Pennsylvania has stepped to the front and by generous appropriations has made possible the rescue of many lives. The camps that have been instituted under state supervision has done such good work that liberal appropriations should be made for their continuance.

Volumn of Trade Good.

The volume of trade is larger. Railroad earnings, bank clearings, foreign trade, the distribution of merchandise in most lines, the great decrease of insolvency statistics since last year—all these things indicate in general a good degree of business activity; not what business was in the best of the period of 1906-7, but, nevertheless, an ample volume of trade.

Dr. Elliot the Choice.

There has been some discussion over their probable appointment of President Elliot of Harvard University, whose resignation takes effect within the next few weeks, to ambassador to England. The majority of those who are in a position to judge of the most capable for the place approve what is understood to be President Taft's choice. He is mentally fitted [illegible] could be found, and his long experience with the high standard educational school makes him a man indeed capable for the place.

Electric Sparks

Of course Charleroi has to have a share in the latest sensation. We've sort of gotten used to such things up this way.

It would be all right for that woman to have spent the summer here if she had only made herself known, but we hate to go hunting up a sensation and not know whether we are acquainted with the woman or not.

With the thoughts of garden making and spring house cleaning that are now pressing to the front do not overlook the importance of giving your property a thorough cleaning up.

Two newspapers in this country have neglected to [illegible] growing culprit of the Roosevelt administration the Indianapolis News and the New York World.

Feminine interests are now centered as to the best way "To Keep a Husband." Of course they don't realize that for centuries [illegible] legions of men have been worried by the problem of how to keep a wife.

Calendar makers will be interested in the editorial statement of an esteemed contemporary that "March 4 was selected for inauguration day because that day occurs less times on Sunday than any other in the calendar."

A rich New York girl eloped with a poor carpenter. This is nothing remarkable but what is amazing is the statement that she is very homely. The reporters are getting drain fag over there or she would have been described as beautiful and a social queen.

Queen Victoria, it seems, kept a diary from the time she was 13 and wrote so much in it that it would fill more than 100 printed volumes. She was also a voluminous letter writer, and it is estimated that her entire correspondence and papers, when arranged and completed will fill 1,250 volumes. Perhaps Mr. Roosevelt doesn't hold the royal writers' record after all.

THE COBRA STONE.

A Ceylon Story About the Reptile and Its Shining Lure.

Every one knows that Ceylon is famous for the amount of queer and rare precious stones found in the sands of its dried up river beds. Among these is one called "chlorophane," a rare variety of fluor spar, which shines at night with phosphorescent light. There has long been a tradition among the natives that a certain species of cobra makes use of this stone to attract insects in the darkness. Indeed, the name given it is "naja-kaller," or cobra stone. A scientist resolved to test this wonderful story during a stay in the island, so offered any cooly 5 rupees to point out a stone carrying cobra. In about a week an old Tamil came in and offered to show him one. He followed this guide, and, sure enough, there, under an immense tamarind tree, he saw a little point of steady greenish light and could faintly distinguish behind a cobra coiled and slowly waving its head from side to side. It would have been desperately dangerous to approach the reptile, and the cooly begged him not to do so, saying that next night he would himself get the stone. He did so, and in rather clever fashion. Before dark he climbed into the tree, carrying a large bag of ashes. After nightfall the cobra turned up, as usual, and deposited its treasure, which it carried in its mouth, before it. Thereupon the cooly emptied his bag of ashes over the shining object, and the frightened reptile after a wild but fruitless search crept back into the jungle. The cooly descended, searched the ashes, found the stone and received his promised reward.—London Telegraph.

Scotland's Patron Saint.

Why was St. Andrew chosen as the patron saint of Scotland? This question has been asked many times, but the archdeacon of whom Dean Hole tells may be considered to have discovered the most satisfactory solution of the problem. "Gentlemen," said he (he was speaking at a St. Andrew's day banquet at the time), "I have given this difficult subject my thoughtful consideration, and I have come to the conclusion that St. Andrew was chosen to be the patron saint of Scotland because he discovered the lad who had the loaves and fishes."—Dundee Advertiser.

Farmer Repudiates Agreement.

New Castle Pa March 10.—George W. Henderson of Shenango township secured a temporary injunction restraining the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad from entering upon his farm. He alleges fraud when he signed, without reading, a deed conveying to the railroad a right of way through his premises for $450.

Playing Greenhorn.

"Why did you tell the manager of that employment agency that you had just come over?" said one servant girl to another. "You didn't, you know. You have had three situations in New York."

"I know that," said the girl. "I pretended to be green so she would try harder to get me a good place. At most of these agencies the managers have green girls on their conscience. The sharks in the business, of course, will fleece them, but the average manager is sympathetic and gets them easy places to start with. I'll have a snap where I am going. The woman thinks I have just arrived and that she will have to break me in. Breaking in means that she will do half the work, while I will just stand around and look on. It pays sometimes to be a greenhorn."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Would Take Chances.

Mr. Philanthropist was passing a bakery when he observed a little girl gazing with longing eyes at some cakes displayed in the window. The youngster's wistful gaze was too much for Mr. Philanthropist, so he took immediate measures to satisfy her longing.

When she had in short order disposed of a rich bit of pastry she calmly asked for another.

"I should like very much to give you another," said the kindly man, "but I'm afraid it would make you sick."

"Get it for me anyhow," quickly responded the little girl. "I can git all the med'cine I need at the dispensary fer nuthin'."—New York Herald.

A Dangerous Place.

The two tramps had been particularly lucky, and, having funds in hand, they discussed plans for the night's shelter. "We can sleep under a roof if we like," said Wiggins.

"Sure we can," responded Higgins, "but some way these lodging houses make me nervous. Supposing a fire was to break out in the night?"

"You've got it right," agreed Wiggins dolefully. "It's no place for us. They'd turn the hose on us in a minute!"—Youth's Companion.

He Was Mentioned.

Admiring Constituent—Senator, your name has been mentioned in connection with a cabinet position, hasn't it? Senator Greatgunn—Er—yes, I believe it has. A paper in my home county remarked the other day that any president who would offer me a place in his cabinet would be darned hard up.—Chicago Tribune.

Good breeding shows itself most where to an ordinary eye it appears least.—Addison.

A scientist resolved to test this wonderful story during a stay in the island, so offered any cooly 5 rupees to point out a stone carrying cobra. In about a week an old Tamil came in and offered to show him one. He followed this guide, and, sure enough, there, under an immense tamarind tree, he saw a little point of steady greenish light and could faintly distinguish behind a cobra coiled and slowly waving its head from side to side. It would have been desperately dangerous to approach the reptile, and the cooly begged him not to do so, saying that next night he would himself get the stone. He did so, and in rather clever fashion. Before dark he climbed into the tree, carrying a large bag of ashes. [illegible] as usual, and deposited its treasure, which it carried in its mouth, before it. Thereupon the cooly emptied his bag of ashes over the shining object, and the frightened reptile after a wild but fruitless search crept back into the jungle. The cooly descended, searched the ashes, found the stone and received his promised reward.—London Telegraph.

Scotland's Patron Saint.

Why was St. Andrew chosen as the patron saint of Scotland? This question has been asked many times, but the archdeacon of whom Dean Hole tells may be considered to have discovered the most satisfactory solution of the problem. "Gentlemen," said he (he was speaking at a St. Andrew's day banquet at the time), "I have given this difficult subject my thoughtful consideration, and I have come to the conclusion that St. Andrew was chosen to be the patron saint of Scotland because he discovered the lad who had the loaves and fishes."—Dundee Advertiser.

Farmer Repudiates Agreement.

New Castle, Pa. March 10.—George W. Henderson of Shenango township secured a temporary injunction restraining the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad from entering upon his farm. He alleges fraud when he signed, without reading, a deed conveying to the railroad a right of way through his premises for $450.

Playing Greenhorn.

"Why did you tell the manager of that employment agency that you had just come over?" said one servant girl to another. "You didn't, you know. You have had three situations in New York."

"I know that, [illegible] tended to be green so she would try harder to get me a good place. At most of these agencies the managers have green girls on their conscience. The sharks in the business, of course, will fleece them, but the average manager is sympathetic and gets them easy places to start with. I'll have a snap where I am going. The woman thinks I have just arrived and that she will have to break me in. Breaking in means that she will do half the work, while I will just stand around and look on. It pays sometimes to be a greenhorn."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Would Take Chances.

Mr. Philanthropist was passing a bakery when he observed a little girl gazing with longing eyes at some cakes displayed in the window. The youngster's wistful gaze was too much for Mr. Philanthropist, so he took immediate measures to satisfy her longing.

When she had in short order disposed of a rich bit of pastry she calmly asked for another.

"I should like very much to give you another," said the kindly man, "but I'm afraid it would make you sick."

"Get it for me anyhow," quickly responded the little girl. "I can git all the med'cine I need at the dispensary fer nuthin'."—New York Herald.

A Dangerous Place.

The two tramps had been particularly lucky, and, having funds in hand, they discussed plans for the night's shelter. "We can sleep under a roof if we like," said Wiggins.

"Sure we can," responded Higgins, "but some way these lodging houses make me nervous. Supposing a fire was to break out in the night?"

"You've got it right," agreed Wiggins dolefully. "It's no place for us. They'd turn the hose on us in a minute."—Youth's Companion.

He Was Mentioned.

Admiring Constituent—Senator, your name has been mentioned in connection with a cabinet position, hasn't it? Senator Greatgunn—Er—yes, I believe it has. A paper in my home county remarked the other day that any president who would offer me a place in his cabinet would be darned hard up.—Chicago Tribune.

Good breeding shows itself most where to an ordinary eye it appears least.—Addison.

CIRCUS CHILDREN.

The Making of Acrobats Begins at an Early Age.

It is nothing unusual for the larger circuses to carry thirty and forty children, ranging all the way from mere babies to boys and girls of fifteen and sixteen years of age. The majority are traveling with their parents, both the father and mother doing daily duty in the ring, and while often they are trained to follow in the steps of their elders they are seldom allowed to perform in public.

It is a common belief among circus men that the performer whose training is not started until after the age of six will seldom make a distinctive record. Following the afternoon show I often saw groups of boys, some of whom could not have been over four and five years old, practicing rudimentary somersaults and hand springs, while their parents looked on with a gratified smile. These were the families of the circus aristocracy, who treasure the records of their ancestors with the pride of a son in his father's sword and who see no more inspiring calling for their own children than that of the great white canvas.

Not that their education is neglected in other respects. Several of the families often hire an instructor—perhaps one of the performers who has the time and ability for such work—to coach their children in the standard studies. One circus has a traveling school for the youngsters. If they are to be acrobats, they are to be educated acrobats.—Bohemian Magazine.

Frills That Soften.

There is no disguising the fact that without the immense and lovely jabots, stocks and frilled puffs the present styles would be angular and severe to an unbecoming degree. The softening frill does much to hide the severity of the season's costumes.

It is the opinion of many that women are more furbelowed this year than ever before, but if all those frills were deducted women would look as mannish as they did on the street last year.

Won With Whips.

According to Herodotus, while the Scythians were away on a long campaign their slaves took the opportunity to rebel and seize all their masters property. The latter on their return promptly attacked them, but were continually defeated until at last one of them hit on the brilliant idea of attacking the slaves with whips only. That, he said, would remind them of their origin and so cow them that they would never dare to stand. The Scythians followed his counsel, and it fell out as he had predicted. When the slaves beheld their masters riding down upon them flourishing the terrible knotted thongs they knew so well, they threw down their arms and fled.

If Susan Only Knew.

If Susan B. Anthony were living now her heart would be glad. A cherished project of hers has just been realized. Permanent congressional headquarters will soon be established by the National American Women Suffrage association in a large house already leased for the purpose in H street, in Washington. From this reign of vantage the suffragists will keep a watchful eye on legislation affecting the interests of women and children.

Frills That Soften.

There is no disguising the fact that without the immense and lovely jabots, stocks and frilled puffs the present styles would be angular and severe to an unbecoming degree. The softening frill does much to hide the severity of the season's costumes.

It is the opinion of many that women are more furbelowed this year than ever before, but if all those frills were deducted women would look as mannish as they did on the street last year.
